

WICT Senior Executive Summit (SES) – 2020 Scholarship Application March 1 - 5, 2020 | Stanford Graduate School of Business, Palo Alto, CA

In partnership with WICT, the Walter Kaitz Foundation is pleased to offer a select number of scholarships to attend WICT's renowned 2020 Senior Executive Summit at Stanford GSB. The scholarship will cover the following costs involved with attending the program:

- 100% of the Program Registration Fee ($10,750) –
 - This includes the program registration, meals, course materials and private sleeping accommodations at the Schwab Residential Center
- Stipend to cover travel and incidental expenses.

The intention of the scholarship is to financially assist qualified women working in the cable industry to participate in the Summit who may otherwise be unable to attend because of funding.

The deadline for submitting your SES scholarship application is Friday, February 7, 2020.

To apply for the scholarship, as a candidate you must be employed by a company which is an NCTA member and must meet at least two of the following criteria:

- Candidate's place of employment must be geographically outside of a major metropolitan area;
- Candidate must work in a company employing 200 employees or less;
- Candidate must work at a company which is independently owned and not publicly traded;
- For those candidate working for a cable operator, the company must have less than 250,000 subscribers.

(Cable suppliers, online media and advertisers are ineligible for scholarships)

In addition, because the curriculum for this program is rigorous and fast-paced, we only offer it to cable's highest ranking women. Baseline requirements for applying are:

- Candidate is a top-ranking woman within the company.
- Candidate has at least 13 years of executive management experience.
- Candidate is Senior Vice President to C-suite title, or equivalency thereof.
