DEAR WICT MEMBERS AND HONORED GUESTS,

Welcome to the first-ever virtual WICT Leadership Conference! We are delighted to set in motion Diversity Week 2020, and proud to be part of an industry that recognizes the importance of diversity, equity and inclusion as it continually evolves to ensure all voices are valued and represented. It is an honor to walk side-by-side with our sister organizations, NAMIC and the Walter Kaitz Foundation, for the weeklong program dedicated to leadership development for women and people of color.

This year’s Leadership Conference theme, The Power of Resilience, captures so well the spirit and dedication of our industry and is a testament to your ability to pivot and adapt, both personally and professionally.

We applaud the tremendous efforts of our industry to keep the world connected and informed during the COVID-19 pandemic and demonstrations against systemic racism. THANK YOU!

We also admire the commitment you have made to enhance your leadership skills as you continue to plot your career journey amidst constant change. YOU are the future of this industry—and of WICT.

Inside this program guide, we recognize WICT’s 2020 Leadership Conference sponsors—companies that help make this event possible—in particular, our Platinum Sponsor, Comcast NBCUniversal and Gold Sponsor, Charter Communications.

The 2020 Conference Planning Committee worked diligently with the WICT team to develop an unparalleled agenda of learning and leadership. Though the program will be virtual this year, we have incorporated live sessions to emulate what you’ve come to love about the WICT Leadership Conference experience – the ability to meet with your friends and colleagues face-to-face. Crowd favorites, including networking roundtables, one-on-one coaching appointments and fitness sessions, return to the program this year.

We are excited to bring you a dynamic array of speakers who encompass a wide variety of business disciplines. Our faculty includes a strong mix of key industry executives, business and career experts, distinguished journalists, entrepreneurs, top athletes, leading researchers, and academic thought-leaders. We have parsed the sessions into four tracks:

• THE POWER PLENARIES feature leaders and trailblazers in high-level strategic talks.
• TECHNOLOGY & INNOVATION breakouts offer insight into the future of the workplace, enabling participants to develop effective and inventive solutions to tomorrow’s problems.
• BUSINESS ESSENTIALS feature practical, interactive conversations and real-life tactics to give leaders the skills and confidence they need to harness their full career potential.
• THE LEADING EDGE sessions provide both aspiring and experienced leaders with the skills and mindset to bring out the best in others.

We encourage you to customize your learning experience by making use of the WICT Leadership Conference app, powered by Charter Communications. We hope all of our members and stakeholders take advantage of the days ahead. Our aim is for you to leave the conference fully energized and armed with the skills needed to lead the ever-adapting workplace of the future.

Stay well, friends, and we hope to see you in-person next year!

With warm regards,

Sandra Howe

Keynote Session

Acting with Power, Purpose and Resilience

> Presented by Stanford Graduate School of Business

In most realms, men still hold greater power than women. Yet research shows women wield power more responsibly than men. As fear and uncertainty rise in society and in our workplaces, now more than ever, so does the need for responsible leaders who are not afraid to claim and use power. In this session, Stanford Professor Deborah Gruenfeld, author of the new book Acting with Power: Why We Are More Powerful Than We Believe, addresses how what we need from our leaders is changing, and how women leaders, in particular, can rise to the occasion, by learning to wield power without fear.

Speaker: Deborah Gruenfeld, Ph.D., Joseph McDonald Professor, Professor of Organizational Behavior and Co-Director, Executive Program in Women’s Leadership, Stanford Graduate School of Business

TECHNOLOGY & INNOVATION
Rebel Talent: Why it Pays to Break the Rules at Work and in Life
There’s a rebel in each of us. We live in turbulent times and the world seems more divided than ever. In this competitive environment, cultivating rebel talent is what allows businesses to evolve and prosper. And rebellion has an added benefit beyond the workplace: it leads to a more vital, engaged and fulfilling life. Sharing insights from her research on why, when and how to break the rules, Dr. Francesca Gino will provide the tools to take a different look at how you approach work and life.
SPEAKER: Francesca Gino, Ph.D., Author & Tandon Family Professor of Business Administration, Harvard Business School; Chair, Negotiation, Organizations and Markets (NOM) Unit

BUSINESS ESSENTIALS
Staying Financially Fit in a Downturn
This unprecedented period has found us all reacting at record speeds to protect our people and our companies while continuing to serve our customers. And although the circumstances are extraordinary, for many of us, this is not the first economic downturn we’ve faced. This session will explore the impact on financial reporting and some of the unique considerations the downturn presents. From potential post-election taxes and regulations to new pricing strategies necessitated by changing customer demands, our presenters will highlight the opportunities and challenges leaders should monitor as we adjust to the new normal.
SPEAKERS: Nichole Jordan, Regional Managing Partner, Central Region, Grant Thornton; Janet Malzone, Partner, Regional Audit Leader - Midwest, Grant Thornton

THE LEADING EDGE
Managing Up: Proven Strategies to Manage Management
Whether we like it or not, our bosses have enormous influence over our ability to succeed, thrive and advance in our organizations, our careers and ultimately, our leadership journey. Managing up helps you build relationships that foster more communication and understanding between people with varying levels of power, skills and perspectives. This lively and interactive presentation provides proven strategies and techniques to increase cooperation and collaboration with everyone on your team, regardless of position. Learning to effectively manage up is good for you, your boss and your organization.
SPEAKER: Mary Abbajay, Author, Managing Up and President & CEO, Careerstone Group, LLC

SPONSOR: Cable One®
2:30 – 3:10 pm

FIRESIDE CHAT

Beyond the Hashtag: Moving from Grassroots to Grand Landscapes

As we attempt to heal the deep wounds affecting our society, businesses have a moral obligation to hold themselves accountable and evaluate how they contribute to the tangled web of systemic racism. Our industry is one that wields great economic power, and we have tremendous social influence as content creators and conduits of information for billions around the world. Almost every major business has made a public commitment to diversity and inclusion following the recent social justice movement; however, we need to move past statements and spring into action if we are going to make real and measurable progress.

MODERATOR: Lori Hall, Co-Founder & Head of Creative, Pop’N Creative
SPEAKER: Michael K. Powell, President & CEO, NCTA – The Internet & Television Association

3:15 – 4:15 pm

GENERAL SESSION

Navigating Chaos in a COVID World

Unprecedented times call for unprecedented leadership. Since the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic, the world has experienced civil, economic and political upheaval like nothing in recent history. However, even in the midst of turmoil, strong leaders find creative ways to pivot and support their organizations and teams in spite of it—while continuing to work toward their own professional goals. Listen in on this frank panel discussion and learn practical tools, ideas and lessons to guide you through the still evolving COVID crisis, and ensure you are prepared for the next big challenge that comes our way. Come prepared with your burning questions for our experts.

MODERATOR: Joseph B. Fuller, Professor of Management Practice, Harvard Business School
SPEAKERS: Kathleen Finch, Chief Lifestyle Brands Officer, Discovery, Inc.; Soraya Loerts, VP, Product Quality, Liberty Global; Michelle Rice, General Manager, TV One

ABOUT WICT’S #BEYONDTHEHASHTAG SERIES

This series was established at the WICT Leadership Conference in the wake of the #MeToo and #TimesUp movements, which ignited a global campaign about the obstacles women encounter routinely in their professional lives. WICT’s #BeyondTheHashtag Series seeks to present real-world solutions by moving workplaces from dialog to action in an effort to build inclusive and equitable workplace cultures that end bias, bigotry and prejudice.

Preparing for Tomorrow’s Jobs Today, The Futurist’s Perspective
There is little doubt that our workplaces are currently undergoing extraordinary transformation, expedited by the pandemic. These changes may be undermining our sense of identity and challenging our ability to adapt. Where so many see change as threatening, futurists Heather McGowan and Chris Shipley see it as an opportunity to open the flood gates of human potential and shift the way we think about work and leadership. Join us for this candid discussion about adaptation, and learn ways to detach your sense of pride and personal identity from a job title, and connect to your sense of purpose. You will return to work with tools that will positively impact your career for years to come.

THE LEADING EDGE

Creating an Exceptional and Dynamic Culture

There can be a disconnect between a leader’s perception of an organization’s culture and that of rank-and-file employees’ perceptions. These disconnects can create miscommunication, sometimes resulting in reduced trust and confidence in leadership. Creating a people-centered culture has a positive impact on an organization’s effectiveness and bottom line, however, changing mindsets and behaviors doesn’t happen all at once. Culture transformation takes time and commitment from all levels of the organization. Join us for this session and learn how to involve your entire team in creating a dynamic culture that will benefit your company in the long term.

SPEAKER: Nicole L. Turner, Founder/Principal, Nicole L. Turner Consulting

Understanding financial statements and cash flow charts are vital skills for anyone who intends to move upward in leadership. Successful executives understand and use financial data to help inform sound decision making and tap into their fiscal acumen routinely to succeed. This session will give you a primer on understanding financial reporting basics, like reading income statements and cash flow reports, helping you to gain confidence in understanding how financial data and non-financial metrics interact. Learn to forecast events and determine the best financial strategy to position your organization for financial stability and growth.

SPEAKER: Thomas Smith, Ph.D., Associate Professor in the Practice of Finance, Goizueta Business School, Emory University
